

Zen Garden

My overall concept is to create a vintage circus / carnival poster for the CSS Zen Garden. I want the design to be fun and engaging. I also want to incorporate some responsive design elements and explore how to refine the design to keep a consistent theme across different screen sizes.

<http://csszengarden.com/217/>

I liked on this page how the different blocks were set up horizontally instead of the typical vertical design of most of the pages.

<http://csszengarden.com/221/>

This elements on this page rearrange with the change of screen size. I want to incorporate some of that into my design.

<http://fsanger.github.io/CSS-Zen-Garden/>

I liked this page because the transformation of the page gives it almost a 90s vibe. I want to incorporate something like into my page

<http://www.amazon.com/ABC-Circus-Patrick-Hruby/dp/162326006X>

My natural design impulse is to choose darker and or cleaner elements. For this project, I wanted to do a design that is goes against that. I spent a lot of time looking through pages and exploring different ideas. I was reading to my son and was admiring the design of the book. I thought it be perfect to get some inspiration from a children's book. This is the one I choose. I want to design a circus / carnival type poster for the page.